

Atoms for Peace: A Half-Century Trend

---

A Personal Memoir
Chauncey Starr

LLNL; November 13th, 2003
Livermore, CA

1. The present growth trend for civilian nuclear power.

2. Commercial reactor types in coming decades.

3. Public physical security objectives.

4. Experience with accident risks.

5. Reality of proliferation threats.

6. Availability of weapons material technology.

7. Diminishing U.S. influence.

8. The two varieties of weapons material threats.

9. Flexibility of the fuel cycle.

10. A technological solution.